

FORWARD MOTION: Executives Forward

Overview:

You set the pace for your organization, including effective communications. In ninety minutes, this presentation provides the executive team with the needed insights to quickly come to mutual understanding through efficient discussion. It provides the foundation for unified decision-making that drives growth and profitability forward.

Moving Forward...

Successfully leading an organization in today's economic climate is no small feat. Business leaders face numerous challenges every day as they navigate their organizations through turbulent waters.

True business leaders set the pace as well as the example for their organizations. This is especially true when it comes to communications skills and abilities. It is critical that employees understand the mission of the business and have a foundation that highlights the importance of effective and efficient communication at all organizational levels.

At Forward Motion, our programs are designed to meet your specific needs. In ninety minutes, Dr. Marcia LaReau will lead the team in a communication style assessment and, based on the results, identify the essence that challenges unified agreement. The presentation will outline solutions to challenges, discuss specific concerns that the executive team experiences and recommendations to effective communication. The final discussion includes the challenges and potential roadblocks and the ramifications of the executive styles on corporate communications, both written and verbal.

Starting at the top, improved communication provides strong forward motion by lighting the fuse of increased performance, productivity, and profitability.

Goals:

- Provide communication style assessment to the executive team
- Translate that information into actionable recommendations to enhance the decision-making process
- Identify ramifications of the executive team's communication style on corporate communication
- Through effective communication, increase performance, productivity, and profitability.
